WATER STANDS HIGH IN WELL

Prospects Are Bright For a Good Supply From Well in Julian Street.

WILL BE TESTED MONDAY

Is Now Sixty-six Feet Deep and Will be Drilled Ten Feet Deeper.

What promises to be the best well drilled in recent years by the city is nearing completion in South Julian street. If the well turns out to be as good as it now looks, the city's water supply will be greatly increased and it will make up for the wells which were failures. John Rosencrance, who is drilling the well for the city, stated this morning that the well, in his opinion, would be the best he had drilled since taking the contract to find a good supply of water for the city. He has drilled several wells for the city since the recent shortage and in almost every instance they have proved worthless for the city's use and if this one should be a good well the city would be amply repaid.

The well is now down 66 feet and it is planned to go about ten feet deeper in case of an emergency. The well will probably be tested sometime Monday. That there is a good supply of water is shown by the fact that the water now stands 13 feet from the top and promises to even better this. The drill is still in limestone, but the rock is not nearly so hard as that encountered a day or two ago, and the drilling is made much easier.

Mr. Rosencrance struck a very hard rock at the depth of 58 feet and it was with considerable difficulty that the drill was forced through. While in this hard limestone the drill was lost and most of yesterday was spent in getting it out, but he was successful and the drilling was resumed late last evening. He believes the well should be about 75 feet deep to get the best results, and with no bad luck the well will be ready for the test some time Monday.

SEES RESULTS OF STORMS

Mrs. Gilbert Meredith Sees Unusual
Sights Returning From Florida

Mrs. Gilbert Meredith, who with her daughter, Miss Lucile, has been spending the summer with her husband and son Tom, at Marathon, Florida, arrived home last night. Both report a very pleasant visit. On the return trip they passed through a region of country inundated by the Charleston storm and the track for more than three miles at one point was entirely covered with water. Tom is now chief electrician of the Florida Coast railway and is enjoying life hugely in the Southland. Mrs. Meredith and daughter will return to Marathon in November for the winter.

IS STINGING FARMERS.

Knightstown Banner: A number of farmers in the southern part of Henry and Wayne county have been stung by the Medical Chemical company of South Omaha, Neb. Instead of selling the stock food they ask the farmer to take some on trial and sign an order. Later another man comes around and discloses the fact that the "order" is a promissory note.

EXPECT CROWD AT CARTHAGE

Annual Home Coming of Christian Church to be Sunday.

The East Street Christian church of Carthage will celebrate its annual home-coming and roll call on Sunday with a special all-day program. A number of former resident members of the church are expected to be present and one of the largest crowds ever in Carthage is looked for tomorrow. A special choir will furnish the music along with the Carthage orchestra. The Rev. E. L. Day of Indianapolis will deliver the evening sermon.

DAY WILL NOT BE CLOSELY OBSERVED

Basket Picnic at Fair Ground Will be Only Thing to Mark Holiday
Here Monday.

FEW PLACES WILL BE CLOSED

Labor day promises to be very quiet in Rushville. The only recognition which will be given the annual national holiday set aside for the laboring man will be the basket picnic which will be held at the fair ground under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus. The program announced promises some rare sport as races of all kinds and descriptions are to be held, including many freak events which promise to convulse the crowd with laughter. Lunch and refreshment stands will be on the ground and music will be furnished the entire day.

Labor day will not be generally recognized over the city. The banks, barber shops, cigar shops and blacksmith shops will be closed but aside from that there will be little closing with the exception of the postoffice, which will not be open after ten o'clock in the morning. One city mail delivery will be made and no delivery will be made on the rural routes.

ALLEGES DOCTOR VIOLATED STATUTES

Dr. E. D. Jewett of St. Paul, Formerly of Rush County, Makes Some Sensational Charges.

FILED AGAINST DR. C. W. PAGEL

Dr. Earl Jewett of St. Paul, formerly of this county, has filed charges with the State board of registration and medical examiners against Dr. Charles W. Pagel of St. Paul. In his complaint Dr. Jewett charges Dr. Pagel with gross immorality and fraud. He cites several instances which he says he can prove in the charges recently filed. There has been trouble and animosity between the two physicians for some time. Dr. Pagel has sold his practice there and was preparing to leave the town of St. Paul but since his name and character have been assailed by his former professional association, he has announced that he will remain in St. Paul and fight the charges. He is planning to build a new residence there. Dr. Jewett formerly lived on rural route two out of Rushville and is well known and largely related in this county.

How Do You Do?

Here we are again—back among the home folks—and we are going to explode that bunk dope about "They never come back." Here is the idea. A freak of Fate has cooked up a Home Coming of "Ye Editors" of the Daily Republican. The publisher—ever alive—has agreed to take a long chance and give over the newspaper for "one day only," to the visiting ex-editors. That day will be next Tuesday—September 5th.

The Republican Co. will not be responsible for anything published on that day, and the ex-editors want to apologize in advance.

It's a sin to annoy the local reading public, even for one day, with a stunt like this, but the papers have been signed and there is no other way out.

The only alibi and excuse offered for the innovation is that this is the silly season anyway, and then, the Daily Republican always was long on novelties.

But say, don't expect too much. You know no one likes to get up too much heat during a vacation. We are just going to shoot along the news of the day with a new dressing, and kid around with a few inane near-features—you know about the line of stuff it will be. It won't be so hot that the readers will have to wear smoked glasses.

Here's the line-up for next Tuesday, of the "Faithful, but Departed."

EDITOR—Ed. J. Hancock, Ashtabula, (O.), Independent. MANAGING EDITOR—Tom J. Geraghty, New York Herald CITY EDITOR—Clifford S. Lee, late of Indianapolis Star. STAFF CORRESPONDENT—Claud Simpson, formerly of Indianapolis News.

DEPARTMENT EDITOR—Myron R. Green, of Indianapolis Star.

ON THE BENCH—Roy E. Harrold, Allen Hiner, J. Feudner, Bert Simpson, W. O. Feudner.

Love and affection to the "Knew Him When" clan. We will see you in light face type next Tuesday. Bye, bye till then.

ESCAPES BY JUMPING DIVIDES ESTATE EQUALLY

Bert Boling Leaps From Auto When Car Hits It.

Activity on the part of Bert Boling of Adams in leaping from his automobile Friday as it was struck by a west bound car probably saved him from death, at least from any serious injury, says the Greensburg News. Mr. Boling was attempting to make the crossing at the Boling home and failed to note the approach of the west bound traction car, in charge of Motormen Braden, which reaches there at 8:20. His machine was hurled aside and at the collision, Boling jumped out, escaping with only a few minor bruises, none of which are of a serious nature.

HITS BOX CAR.

Rather than take a chance on being hit by an automobile and perhaps seriously injured Louis Thatcher ran his bicycle into a box car in Fourth street near the Harrison street crossing of the C. H. & D. last evening. Thatcher escaped injury, but the bicycle is a total wreck.

Will of Wright Jefferies is Admitted
For Probate.

The will of Wright Jefferies, deceased, who lived in Ripley township in the extreme northeast corner near the Henry county line, was admitted to probate in the Rush circuit court late yesterday afternoon. In the document it is provided that all of the funeral expenses and debts of the deceased be paid and that one hundred dollars be paid to each of his six grandchildren. The remainder of the estate, according to the will, is to be divided equally among his eleven living children.

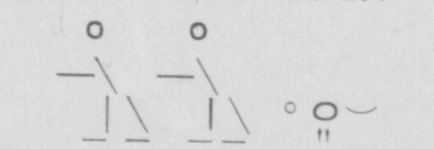

MILDRED SHERWOOD DEAD.

Miss Mildred Sherwood, the five-year-old daughter of Howard Sherwood of near Falmouth, died yesterday after a long illness with spinal trouble. The funeral services will be held Sunday morning in the Fairview church. Burial will take place in the Fairview cemetery.

Daffydil Doings Down In Dippy Dell

Deputy Clerk Birney Spradling was in the act of writing on the marriage record that the girl who was applying for the right to be joined to the man at her side was perfectly safe and sane when Donald Smith rushed in. He wanted to stop the whole proceedings for he said he had a lien coming against the bridegroom-to-be. The aspirant for conjugal bliss protested, opining that he was lean enough as it was and what he needed was a little fat. The act had about reached the climax when Verne Norris, county clerk, stalked in from his corn field out in Jackson township. All-belligerents promptly appealed to Verne as the arbitrator. He heard the pro and con and then retired to the marriage room to prepare his verdict. He returned and just as he opened his lips to pronounce the plaintiff's doom Jabez Smith, the venerable janitor, his eye disheveled and his features awry, darted in the door. The crowd stood back aghast. Clutching the air frantically, Jabez peered: "If Frank Wilson knew no Bliss, Will Mul-no?"

Run down an alley, here comes that Arlington gang!

MANY WILL SEE BALL GAME

Indianapolis Meets Louisville in a Double Header Labor Day.

With the Indianapolis American Association team playing two games Monday—Labor day—with Louisville on the home grounds, many local fans will take advantage of the holiday and witness both games. The Indians have been playing remarkable ball in the past few weeks and have won thirteen games out of seventeen played. Their winning streak is not yet broken and there is much speculation here, as to just where they will land.

TWO SECONDS CUT OFF TRACK RECORD

Alecyras Steps Fast Mile at Crawfordsville—Jones Takes Most of the Money.

DAGLER AT SHELBYVILLE

Harrie Jones took about all the money in sight yesterday at the Crawfordsville fair races. Jones captured two firsts, one second and a sixth place. In the 2:24 trot he won with Katherine R. The best time was 2:18 1/4. In the 2:13 trot Baron Dillon was first and Bessie Prodgal, driven by Williams, a trainer for Jones, finished second. The best time was 2:18 1/4. In the 2:25 pace, Jones, withdrew Billie Patchen after the fourth heat.

Two seconds were cut off the track record of the Montgomery County Agricultural Association's track yesterday afternoon by Alecyras, the little roan mare driven by Harrie Jones, when she paced a mile in 2:06 1/4. The record had previously been 2:08 1/4, made several years ago by Pearl C. in an exhibition mile. Alecyras was unable to negotiate the mile yesterday as fast as she paced last week at Muncie.

Mobella, a horse in the stable of William Dagler, took second money in the 2:25 pace at the Shelby county fair yesterday. Bayline, another of Dagler's horses, took third in the 2:27 trot. Ruth Fear, who was at the Rush county fair broke her record twice yesterday at Shelbyville and the world's record for ten-year-old drivers, by driving one-half mile in 1:05 and another in 1:04 3/4.

REMAINS TAKEN TO MORRISTOWN

Oscar F. Fitch, Well Known in This County, Died at Odd Fellows Home in Greensburg.

TAUGHT SCHOOL IN MILROY

The remains of Oscar F. Fitch, who died yesterday at the Odd Fellows' Home in Greensburg, passed through here this morning enroute to Morristown for burial. Mr. Fitch was past ninety-three years of age and was well known in this city and county. At one time he taught school in Milroy and up until a few years ago his former pupils met with him at his home in Morristown once each year. The reunion of his pupils was always an important event with him and by this means the friendship, which was made in the school room, was continued many years. Mr. Fitch was a member of the Morristown lodge No. 646 and went to the Home on December 13, 1907.

RECALLS FACTS ABOUT THIS CITY

Granville E. Cowing of Muncie Remembers Conditions Surrounding Change of Name of Whig.

TO THE REPUBLICAN IN 1852

Joe Cowing Pays Him Annual Visit and Finds Him Healthy and Happy.

Perhaps there is no better informed man and no resident of the State who has reached such a ripe old age and has as clear and brilliant a mind as Granville E. Cowing of Muncie, former publisher and editor of the Republican and uncle of Joseph L. Cowing of this city. Mr. Cowing is enjoying a healthy and delightful life at his home in Muncie and takes as active interest in affairs of the day as he ever did.

Mr. Cowing of this city always pays his relative a visit once each year. He was there a few days ago and was impressed by the remarkable vitality of the respected old man. He says that Mr. Cowing is continually engaged in work that will serve to inform him more on all important topics and is never idle many moments each day.

The annual visit of Mr. Cowing recalled to the former local editor and publisher some of the scenes and incidents of his work here. Mr. Cowing brought out all of the old files of the Whig and Republican which he kept while he was publisher and editor. The files are in almost perfect shape and the paper, instead of turning yellow as paper generally does, is growing whiter with age. Mr. Cowing had the papers bound in Indianapolis and treasures them very highly. When he grows reminiscent he takes out the files and reads of the happenings in Rushville over half a century ago.

The visit of the local man and the exhibiting of the old newspaper files, recalled to the former editor and publisher some of the occurrences of his life in this city. He remembered how he and Gen. P. A. Hackleman happened to change the name of The Whig to the Republican. That change was made in the year 1852.

The two publishers and editors, who then had control of the Whig, were standing in front of the building in East First street now occupied by the Eagle restaurant when the discussion as to the changing of the name came up. That building was then one of the pretentious residences of the city and stood there almost alone as there were few buildings in that part of the city at that time.

Mr. Cowing told the local man that the subject of changing the name of the old and established paper which has since been converted into a daily had never been brought up before by the two men although each one had entertained some thoughts of changing the name to keep apace with the times. It was at this time that the Whig party was disappearing and gradually evolving into the Republican party which exists today. One evening in 1852 the two men met, the change was discussed and it was decided that it should be made.

Gen. P. A. Hackleman was one of Rush county's loyal sons who was killed in the civil war. Before he met his death in battle he was promoted to brigadier-general. On account of his devotion to and love for his former business associate and companion, Granville Cowing has made repeated attempts to get an appropriation from the State legislature to be used to erect a monument in mem-

Town Development

It is the belief of persons competent to construe the law that the campaign cigar is donned, says an exchange. Under the statute passed by the last general assembly it may be possible to conduct a campaign along the uneventful lines of a basket meeting, a bridge party or an old settlers' picnic.

The law states specifically who may contribute money for campaign purposes and how that money may be extended. Many say they see a revolution for the better in the law. That it will work great change in our methods and eliminate corruption, hypocrisy and the mischievous spirit of bellicose partisanship.

Others believe it is the best publicity statute ever thought of and that it can not fail of bringing about the result desired. The law requires all political parties to appoint a treasurer and binds upon this treasurer the obligation of giving bond to the state and of making a full and complete report of his stewardship. To the merest detail of names the purpose for which campaign money may be expended.

The law is quite plain to political parties, requiring all of them to comply strictly with its provisions. A candidate may select a political agent, but this agent falls within the purview of the law and is governed by it. No political party may solicit a penny from a candidate but such a candidate may of his own free will contribute to the campaign fund. These contributions are to be accounted for by the treasurer and a report of the same returned to the state at the proper time. Every central committee, representing a political party, is required to have a treasurer, and the treasurer acts as a state official.

Every treasurer so appointed must give a bond for the faithful performance of his duties. Sub-treasurers may be appointed by state committees, but they are under the supervision of the treasurer and must file with him a detailed report of their receipts and disbursements. No person, except the treasurer, who is under bond to the state, may disburse campaign money. The candidate is permitted to pay his own expenses for postage, telegrams, telephoning, stationery, letters, circular letters, printing, expressage and traveling.

In the heat of a partisan conflict good men have forsaken their moral poise and committed sins which would shock their normal sense of the proprieties. The sentiment, "anything to beat," has absolved every type of transgression except murder or arson or highway robbery. Ministers of the gospel have thought it no crime to touch the tainted money in the heat of a partisan campaign. Men who would not outrage the finer senses in the ordinary affairs of life have boldly accepted the charge of disbursing agent for funds collected by doubtful methods. Years of contact with such practices have dwarfed their moral sense along those particular lines. With them everything save actual overt crime is lawful in the heat of partisan battles.

This law will awaken in them a new sense of duty toward society. It will bring them back to a normal moral attitude.

This is the opinion of persons here who have studied the law and applied it to local conditions.

No campaign cigars, no drinks, no free joy rides are mentioned in the list of expense, which the treasurer may incur. The law provides that money may be expended for halls, music and advertising, for printing campaign literature, for printing sample ballots and instructions to voters, for rent for committee headquarters, for compensating clerks, stenographers, challengers, watchers, and assistants, for paying traveling expenses of political agents, committees and public speakers, for paying postage, etc., and for hiring conveyances for carrying sick and infirm voters to and from polls, for paying the expenses of messengers in the service of central committees, for paying expenses incurred by the chairman of the state committee in entertaining members of political committees, etc.

These are legitimate expenses within the provisions of the law and all other expenses are prohibited.

TAFT IN VERSE.

Written by Wisconsin Woman, Who Sends Copy to the White House.

Mrs. Lizzie A. Lucy of Janesville, Wis., who has always had great difficulty in remembering the names of the presidents in consecutive order, has written a series of verses to assist her memory, a copy of which she sends to Mr. Taft. Referring to Presidents Roosevelt and Taft, he verses run: "Then came one dear to the people's heart, Who proved resourceful from the start. Who with large questions had always dealt—

Genial Theodore Roosevelt. * * * After him the chair was filled by one in administration skilled. An honest man, devoid of craft, Opposed to trusts and spoils and graft—Our present chieftain, good Bill Taft.

The White House force is endeavoring to calculate the relative difficulty of remembering twenty-six names or twenty-six verses of poetry.

PENSIONS FOR AGED.

Berger Would Aid All With Income of Less Than $6 Per Week.

A bill to pension the "veterans of industry" was introduced in the house by Victor L. Berger, Socialist member from Wisconsin. Attached to the measure is a radical clause forbidding the supreme court of the United States to pass upon its validity.

The bill provides for a pension of $1 to $4 a week for every person more than sixty years old who has an income of less than $6 a week.

"The old working men and working women," declared Mr. Berger, "are entitled to a living outside of the poor-houses and without the aid of private charity. If the old parties and the supreme court do not realize that fact they will be wiped out of existence, together with the old constitution."

It is the belief of the Socialist representative that his old age pension bill is constitutional.

"But some of the capitalistic supreme court justices may hold different opinions," he said. "The bill furnishes a good opportunity for testing the power of the federal courts to annul necessary legislation passed by congress."

Mr. Berger asserts that through a thousand ways the country spends a greater amount to relieve the destitution of the aged than his bill asks for. "It is time now," he says, "that we meet the problem in a scientific and economical way."

LIVES ON 26 CENTS A WEEK.

Athlete Offers to Show Editor How He Keeps Down His Bills.

To prove a man can live comfortably and be healthy, happy and strong on 26 cents a week for food, George H. Ward, seventy-three years old, a long distance walker, has invited the doubting editor of a Connecticut newspaper to be his guest for one week. Mr. Ward said that in three years he has eaten only cereals, potato chips, crackers and peanut butter. His budget last week:

Oatmeal	12c
Crackers	1c
Peanut butter	4c
Flour	2c
Tea	2c
Total	26c

Mr. Ward is hale and hearty. The ruddy glow of youth is in his cheeks. His step is elastic and all his faculties are unimpaired. A year ago he walked from Middletown, Conn., to New York city and back in fifty-seven hours, eating only a half pound of peanut butter and half a pound of crackers on the journey.

Mr. Ward says if the editor accepts his invitation to board with him a week he will make a new man of him in the seven days and pay the 26 cents himself.

A walk of four miles before breakfast every morning is part of Mr. Ward's program. He drinks only tea and water.

He lives four miles east of Windsor, in Bertie county, N. C., and his health is perfect, not having missed a meal in fifty years. His body is normal and well shaped, but his strength is prodigious. He can break a double bottom line as easily as if it were a cotton cord. He is gentle and has never been known to hurt a living soul intentionally. He cannot speak a word except the one monosyllabic "Gee," which he uses in various intonations to express all his desires and emotions.

WHITE TO PROVE HE IS KIMMEL

Auburn, N. Y., Prisoner Will Soon Visit Niles, Mich.

$25,000 IS AT STAKE.

Man Who Says He Is Kimmel, a Former Kansas Banker, Has Been Imprisoned Under the Name of White For Five Years.

The little city of Niles, Mich., is soon to witness a strange homecoming. A prisoner now confined in the penitentiary at Auburn, N. Y., will be released Sept. 15. In prison he is known as Andrew J. White. He claims to be George A. Kimmel, former banker of Arkansas City, Kan., missing since 1898. Niles is the former home of Kimmel. He was reared and went to school there.

Upon whether White the prisoner is in reality Kimmel the former banker depends not only the solution of a puzzling mystery, but also involves the payment of $25,000.

Stake Is $25,000.
Kimmel had $25,000 life insurance. The beneficiary is Mrs. Mary Bonslett of Chicago, his sister. The insurance company is resisting the payment of the policy on the ground that White is Kimmel and that, being alive, there is no occasion for the payment of the policy. Relatives say they have proof that Kimmel must long since have died, that White is an impostor, that the money is due and should be paid the sister and sued to recover it.

Events and scenes of former years recalled in letters received at Niles many people regard as conclusive proof that White is Kimmel. Some of these letters have been received by Henry Kephart, an old friend of the Kimmel family, who lives at Berrien Springs, ten miles north of Niles. Mr. Kephart is convinced beyond doubt that White must be Kimmel because of the happenings they have recounted in their letters which could not possibly be known to an impostor, he says.

She Says He's Kimmel.
One to whom the prisoner also has written many times is Mrs. Henry Lardner. She was a close friend of the Kimmel family years ago when Niles was their home. Her husband is equally warm in his friendship for Kimmel.

There are still many, however, who do not believe that Kimmel is living, and who are willing to back their opinions with money. Among these is Dr. F. N. Bonine, who declares he is willing to put up from $100 to $500 either as a bet or as a gift to any charitable organization on the proposition that the real George Kimmel does not come to Niles when the strange prisoner at the Auburn, N. Y., penitentiary is released. The physician means by this that if this prisoner comes to Niles he is not Kimmel.

Says He's Betting on Sure Thing.
The physician believes he is betting on a sure thing because of a slight operation he says he performed on the real Kimmel when Kimmel was a youth. This was an operation on one of Kimmel's eyes that left a small scar, almost too slight now since the years have passed to be noticed without the aid of a magnifying glass.

Soon after the discovery of White, who claims to be Kimmel, and it became a settled fact that the insurance company intended to resist the payment of the $25,000 insurance on his life, Dr. Bonine made a trip to Auburn prison at the instance of an attorney for Mrs. Bonslett. The doctor went to the prison with the attorneys and, after some persuasion, Kimmel consented to let the physician examine his eyes. Dr. Bonine then asked the prisoner to step to a window and the Niles specialist took out a microscope and took several rapid but thorough glances at both the prisoner's eyes.

The Scar Wasn't There.
One glance was enough to satisfy. He was looking for the scar from the operation he had performed.

He found not the slightest trace of a scar and that instead of Kimmel's black eyes he looked into clear blue eyes with pupils that dilated and contracted naturally, indicating to the specialist that they had never been affected by either disease, injury or operation.

Under the name of Andrew J. White the man was found guilty of larceny in Cattaraugus county, N. Y., and was sent to Matteawan, N. Y., to the state asylum for the insane. He later regained his sanity and was transferred to the penitentiary at Auburn. His sentence of five years commuted for good behavior expires Sept. 15.

First Electric Railway.
The opening of the first electric railway occurred only thirty years ago. The first electric line was one and one-half miles long and extended from Berlin to a military school in the suburbs. There was one car, which carried twelve passengers.

GAVE THESE COUNTER JUMPERS A LESSON

Congressman Carter Whales
Four In a Bunch.

Washington, Sept. 2.—In fashionable F street Representative Carter of Oklahoma created a great deal of excitement and incidentally gave a severe drubbing to four clerks in a department store, whom he accused of insulting his eighteen-year-old daughter, Miss Italy Carter. The Oklahoma member, who is seven-sixteenths Indian, put one of the clerks completely out of commission. He quickly departed from the store and, placing his daughter in a passing auto, hurried to the nearest station house, where he gave himself up.

According to Carter his daughter entered the store and asked for a certain make of coat, giving a description. The clerk, thinking her alone, Mr. Carter said, tried to engage her in conversation.

"Italy refused to converse with the clerk," said Mr. Carter. "Continuing his advances, which were followed by repulses from my daughter, he became insulting. I took a hand in the affair then and politely asked the clerk the cause of the trouble. He became angry and said uncomplimentary things about my daughter. I told her to accompany me from the store, and as we reached the door he called me names. I then gave him as good a licking as my long experience on the plains as a boxer would permit. When I started to leave three of his associates took up the fight. I was plainly outnumbered, but struck right and left with my cane and finally routed the whole bunch."

Life Sentence For Octogenarian.
Janesville, Wis., Sept. 2.—Louis Keller, eighty years old, was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of Johanna Hischke on June 21. He shot the woman as the result of a row over his attentions to her sixteen-year-old daughter.

It is proposed to have President Taft taken to all points of interest during his coming visit to the Missouri state fair grounds in a carriage drawn by eight of the finest mules to be found in Missouri.

The first conference between Harman system officials and the five presidents of unions forming the Federation of Shop Employees was without result. A long conference resulted in no agreement.

GOING TO WORK THE PRISONERS

New System Being Worked Out
at Evansville.

TO HAVE JOBS ON RIVER FRONT

There Used to Be a Time When Prisoners at Evansville Were Worked on a Rock Pile, but This System Was Abandoned, and Now County Commissioners Have Adopted a Plan of Putting Them at Wharf Work.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 2.—The county commissioners of Vanderburg county have decided to work the prisoners confined in the county jail. About 100 prisoners are now in custody and this is the daily average for the year. Fully 85 per cent of these prisoners are transient. The prisoners were formerly worked on the rock pile, but the commissioners had some trouble in disposing of the rock, and the rock pile was finally abandoned. It is the plan of the county commissioners to start to working the prisoners on the river front and an appropriation of $2,500 will be made by the commissioners for the purpose of hiring two guards to watch the men while they are working. The women prisoners will not be worked. It is believed the city council can legally take steps to pay the county when the prisoners are worked inside of the city limits. When the prisoners are worked outside of the city the county will stand the expense.

The time of arrival has not been determined, but it is expected it will be some time during the latter part of October.

Did Not Care to Live.

Shelbyville, Ind., Sept. 2.—Joseph Wendell, aged nineteen, committed suicide by blowing the top of his head off with a shotgun. The young man brooded because his mother had him sent back home by authorities after he had joined the army. He said he did not care to live if he could not immediately serve his country under the flag.

Medicine Within Baby's Reach.

Richmond, Ind., Sept. 2.—The three-year-old son of Frederick Jurgens is dead as a result of morphine poisoning. The child found a bottle of medicine and drank most of the contents, becoming unconscious within a few minutes. Doctors worked for hours to save the child's life but failed.

LIVERYMEN PUT STOP TO SUNDAY FUNERALS

Iron-Clad Agreement Made at Fort Wayne.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 2.—It will be practically impossible hereafter to get carriages for a Sunday funeral in Fort Wayne, except in cases of death from contagious disease that make immediate burial imperative. This new ban on Sunday funerals has been placed by the Liverymen and Hackmen's Protective association, the membership of which includes nearly all the livery establishments in the city. The agreement goes into effect tomorrow. Clergymen, liverymen, funeral directors and cemetery authorities have been for several years warring on the Sunday funeral, but up to this time have not been able to eliminate it. The new step is the most drastic yet taken, and in all probability it will put an end to the practice of selecting Sunday as the date for funerals.

Fournoy, the French aviator, has made a record non-stop flight by covering a distance of 453 miles.

Mr. Edison says there will be no more great wars in Europe as the world conscience is against it. Mr. Edison is the master spirit of the scientific laboratory, but, in talking of conscience, there are others.

Some Arctic explorers claim to have discovered a new race of people, not Eskimos up near the farthest circle. But since the rise and fall of Dr. Cook North Pole stories are at discount They will be believed when proved.

The contests in Maine and Kentucky, one for prohibition and one for the county unit in local option, may complicate matters for Democrats who will be slow to understand how a victory for either can be Democratic triumph, no matter what else may happen.

Some of the fellows who object to being called old will heartily endorse what Abraham Teachout of Cleveland says about men continuing their activities. Mr. Teachout is 94 years old, but works six days a week in his office and declares that "a man of 60 who has good health is in his prime, and he would be dodging responsibility if he refused to give the world the active benefit of his experience and conclusion." They will also concur with him when he says a man of 60 can tackle propositions a young man dare not attempt.

Chairman Lee is out in an interview criticising President Taft for replying to the attacks of the La-follette presidential boosters who think they must destroy Taft to make La-follette, says the Marion Chronicle. If anything further were needed to demonstrate the fact that Mr. Lee is a misfit as a state chairman the want is now applied.

Several Cincinnati sweat shops have been compelled to close with the statement that on account of the high price and inferior quality of woolen goods it is impossible for them longer to do business, says the Muncie Press. If that is the real reason why would it not apply as well to the competitors of these concerns as to the Cincinnati establishments? That being the case what would the tariff have to do with one concern, rather than another, going to the wall? Somebody must make the clothes.

Real Indiana sportsmen indignant at the setting aside of the fish and game laws of the state to the extent that about all there is left are the salaries for the state commissioner and his deputies are reminded of the fact that in this respect and administration is simply catering to the same policy followed in other lines, letting down the fences in the interest of gaining the political support says the Huntington Herald, of the lawless classes. It has worked the same way in handling the liquor laws of the state, and all to pay off debts contracted as the price of being given political power.

The reason why some towns grow is because there are men of push and energy in it who are not afraid to spend their time and money to boom their town, says an exchange. Wherever they go they tell of the advantages of their city, they write about them in every letter, they send circulars and newspapers to all whom they think they can get to visit the city, and when any one visits them they treat him so kindly that he falls in love with them and their city at once. It is enterprise and everyone pushing together that makes a progressive town, and don't let the fact escape your memory.

To hear every person saying something pleasant about its people and its interests is the surest, quickest and easiest way to make a town attractive to a stranger. One of the best ways in which to make a town attractive with that sort of attraction that will draw other people to it is for every man and every woman to have a pleasant word for the people and the town generally. Talk up your town if you would have others come to you. Talk up your town if you feel an interest in it and have its people feel an interest in you. There is no little word of unpleasant reference to something that does not exactly suit you and not particularly concern you as to that matter will turn a good man's influence away from your town and may even drive him away. At your own fireside among neighbors, and coming in contact with strangers, talk up the most potent agency ever set in motion for helping your town.

What is the meaning of a family reunion?

What is the cause of the great and ever-increasing popularity of family reunions—of the continual formation of a new family organizations for the purpose of holding annual gatherings?

An answer to these questions, may be based on the simple word, "home." The family reunion idea, which is a comparatively new one, has spread with surprising rapidity within the last few years. The reunion idea is now general throughout the United States, and columns of space are daily devoted to the various gathering by newspapers everywhere.

Is not the amazing growth of this new custom one of the strongest of evidences of the universal application of the truths contained in the song, "Home, Sweet Home?"

But what is home? When the night policeman sees a drunken individual upon the street at the midnight hour, and instead of placing him in the cage, tells him to "go home," the idea that forms in the beclouded brain of the individual is one of a certain dwelling house located at a certain point on a certain street, and he meanders along in that direction until out of the policeman's sight.

But is this, the real meaning of home? Here we take a peep into a dwelling house and see a happy family gathered about the fireplace just after supper. The father is dancing his wee son upon his knee as he laughingly banters with him; the mother sits nearby, rocking, knitting and conversing, first with one and then with another member of the family. In one corner are two bright young lads enjoying a game of crokinole. At one side sits a daughter studying her high school lesson for the next day. A younger daughter begins excitedly to tell her mother of a childish experience she had that day at school.

Everywhere in this home is happiness, peace, comfort; the utmost good will and cheer abounds. Is home, then, the home where one lives, or is it the youngest environment, the feeling of freedom and welcome that predominates there?

Remember Roscoe Morgan, who but a few short years ago used to run around the streets of Rushville with a wealth of fiery red curls packed around his neck from ear to ear, and used to cry and run home when the grown-up teasers would threaten to sever said coveted curls with the cruel scissors? Roscoe lives up Anderson way now, and the latest addition in his family heir line tips the beam at eight pounds in is yard square habilitment. Oh, yes, almost forgot—it's a boy. AMUSEMENTS

Tonight the Musical Bradbury family will appear for the last time at the Vaudet theater. The family has attracted considerable attention here this week and has won admiring applause from large crowds each evening. The trained dogs with the company are exceptionally good. They played to a matinee this afternoon and will close tonight's program. "Behind the Stockade" is an Iup drama, the scene of which is laid in the Philippines. A wealthy planter invites his daughter's fiancé from the United States and he gets in bad at once by thrashing the half-breed overseer of the plantation for forcing his attentions on the planter's daughter. The half-breed incites the natives and they plan a raid on the planter only to be frustrated when they are in the act of destroying the planter's property. The other picture is an Elair comedy, "Engaged in Spite of Themselves." Leon Maxey will sing "Let's Make Love Among the Roses."

The Buffalo Wild West which is the big feature attraction with the Jno. R. Smith Shows who will exhibit in Rushville all next week is not the biggest Wild West Show on earth but oftentimes the sweetest and best goods are done up in the smallest packages. It has been Mr. Smith's aim to assemble a company of fearless saddle experts and present a true picture of the pastimes of the Golden West in a manner that would please the most critical. 25 people and 28 horses are used in the arena and nothing but genuine cowboys and cowgirls from the Buffalo Ranch are utilized in giving the performance. From a sensational standpoint The Buffalo Ranch Wild West is "there with the goods" and wherever they have exhibited this season the general verdict has been "a better show for 25c than many others ask 50c to see." Only two performances are given daily, one at 2:30 p. m. and one at 8:15 p. m. Will exhibit at Rushville. All next week commencing Monday, Sept. 4.

JOHN R. EARLY ASKS GOVERNMENT FOR PENSION.

Alleged Leper Will Again Be Examined
by Physicians.

Commissioner Davenport of the pension bureau at Washington is arranging to take up the application of John R. Early, the alleged leper, for a pension.

The commissioner isn't certain by any means that Early is a leper and will again get a verdict of physicians. He declines to give out Early's place of residence in Washington state and says he will have him examined by physicians who know nothing of his history.

In his application Early does not allege that he is a leper, but says his health is bad. He asks for a partial disability pension instead of the one for total disability under which he drew $72 and which was granted him by the bureau when he was in the District of Columbia.

It is understood the examination to be made by the pension office physicians will go a long way toward settling the dispute between the Washington health office and Dr. Bulkley, the New York skin specialist, who declared that Early is not a leper. Leprosy is classed as an incurable disease.

Originally the pension was granted to Early on the decision of the Washington health authorities, but when the patient went to New York and Dr. Bulkley declared he was not a leper Examiner Roome of the pension office made an investigation, and later the monthly allowance was stopped.

Early served for nine years in the army, being in Cuba and the Philippines. He left the army in 1906, going to work in a pulp mill in North Carolina, where he claims he received the scars which the local health officials claim are those of leprosy.

After being released from the Skin and Cancer hospital in New York, to which institution he was taken from the District by Dr. Bulkley, Early returned to Washington and went to the District building without being recognized. Later his identity became known, and he was placed under arrest, finally being freed from the institution not to again come into the District. Shortly thereafter he disappeared from view and was believed to be living quietly on a farm in one of the southern states.

TO DARE WHIRLPOOL RAPIDS.

Larsen, Who Made Trip Successfully in 1910, Will Try It Again.

Captain Klaus P. Larsen, who successfully piloted a small launch through the Whirlpool rapids on Sept. 18, 1910, expects to make another trip through them.

For his second trip Larsen has a new boat built by Robert Allen of Detroit. The Niagara, which the captain confidently expects will behave in a creditable manner when she enters the dangerous whirlpool of the Niagara gorge, is but fifteen feet long from stem to stern.

She has five feet and six inches beam and with the exception of two circular hatches is decked over. She measures four feet from the crown of her deck to the bottom of her keel and is propelled by a thirteen horsepower two cylinder four cycle Scripps engine, with a speed capacity of a little better than nine miles an hour. The after hatch is also used as a cockpit, and when the Niagara starts on her perilous journey through the gorge the forward hatch will be hermetically sealed, while the after hatch will be fitted with a canvas hood with an opening for the navigator's head and arms.

"They all thought I was crazy or trying to commit suicide last summer," said Captain Larsen, "but I am going through the Whirlpool rapids again to show them that I knew what I was doing and can do it again."

COLUMBUS MEMORIAL.

It Will Be Composed of Pure White Marble, Including the Heroic Statue.

The memorial to Christopher Columbus, which will be directly in front of the main entrance of the Union station, will be unique among the many similar works of art in Washington. With only two exceptions all of the numerous statues in the public parks of the national capital are of bronze or similar material.

The Columbus memorial will be composed entirely of pure white marble, including the heroic statue of Columbus the two figures of ancient and modern American inhabitants, the shaft which forms the background of the statue, the globe and two eagles which surmount the shaft, the caravel on which the statue stands and its allegorical figurehead, the two lions which decorate the ends of the semicircular fountain, which provides a setting for the statue and the superstructure of the fountain basin.

The contract for the erection of the memorial has just been awarded to Robinson & Co. of New York on a $70,000 bid. This will embrace the carving and erection of all the sculptural pieces, the building of the foundation and all of the plumbing and drainage work. All the carving is to be done by the Piccirilli brothers of New York under the supervision of Lorado Taft, designer of the memorial, which will be dedicated next May.

ASLAKA IS RETARDED BY BAD LAND LAWS

Opinion of President Schurmann of Cornell.

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 2.—The government is throttling the development of Alaska and keeping its vast resources nearly intact by means of land laws which are not applicable to that territory, says President Schurmann of Cornell university. He said the government is pursuing an ultra-conservative policy and keeping capital out, thus allowing the coal fields to remain untouched while the people of Alaska have to pay enormous prices for coal, bringing it from British Columbia. He also stated that the resources of the far north possession are denied to the Pacific coast; that the rightful property of the constituency of the United States is rendered inaccessible by conservation.

To relieve this condition Professor Schurmann advocated the opening of the coal fields to capital to further development, such as the building of railroads. At the same time he said the development should be under government control to protect the interests of the people and to prevent ravaging corporations from securing too strong footholds. He said he thought the government should receive a royalty from every ton of coal mined.

Professor Schurmann has just returned from an extended trip through Alaska. During his trip he made close observation of the development of the country and found it retarded by the laws which bottle up the resources.

WASHINGTON'S WILL IS TO BE PRESENTED IN SENATE DOCUMENT

Authentic Copy Found by Heyburn In a Second Hand Book Store.

Character of the Father of His Country Plainly Shown In Contents.

THE last will and testament of George Washington is to be presented in a senate document and will come from Uncle Sam's press soon. Just before the last session of congress closed Senator Heyburn of Idaho discovered an authentic copy of the will in a second-hand book store in Washington. So much interested was the Idaho senator that he purchased the copy and then obtained the permission of the senate to have the document published at the expense of Uncle Sam.

In none of the other writings of the first president of the country are his character, his firmness and his fairness better exemplified than in this same will and testament, which in the edition which is to be published by the senate is quaintly entitled "The Last Will and Testament of George Washington of Mount Vernon."

The original will be kept at the Fairfax county courthouse in Virginia, where it was originally filed by General Washington himself. The document is jealously guarded by F. D. Richardson, the clerk of the court. It is kept in a steel fireproof safe, and when visitors come to the out of the way courthouse the will is taken from its resting place and proudly exhibited. It has been bound in handsome leather binding and may be scanned easily by the visitors.

Written In 1799.

The will was written by General Washington himself at Mount Vernon July 9, 1799. It was presented for probate in the Fairfax county courthouse Jan. 20, 1800, a little over six months after General Washington had completed writing the document.

There are forty-two pages of manuscript in the will, including the actual will and notes made by General Washington for the better explanation of provisions of the will. At the bottom of each page Washington signed his name, by this means obviating the necessity of having the will witnessed.

The first thought of the Father of His Country when he made his last will was that all of his debts should be paid, and after the first paragraph, in which he states his name and that he was "late president of the United States," he says:

"All of my debts, of which there are but few and none of any magnitude, are to be punctually and speedily paid."

The first item of the will, however, is as follows:

"To my dearly beloved wife, Martha Washington, I give and bequeath the use, profit and benefit of my whole estate, real and personal, for the term of her natural life, except such parts thereof as are especially disposed of hereafter."

Views on Slavery.

The very next item in the will shows beyond peradventure that General Washington was inclined to do away with slavery in this country. He says:

"Upon the decease of my wife it is my will and desire that all the slaves which I hold in my own right shall receive their freedom. To emancipate them during her life would, though earnestly wished by me, be attended with such insuperable difficulties, on account of their intermixture by marriages with the dower negroes, as to excite the most painful sensations, if not disagreeable consequences, from the latter, while both descriptions are in the occupancy of the same proprietor, it not being in my power under the tenure by which the dower negroes are held to manumit them. And whereas among those who will receive freedom according to this devise there may be some who from old age or bodily infirmities and others who on account of their infancy that will be unable to support themselves, it is my will and desire that all who come under the first and second descriptions shall be comfortably clothed and fed by my heirs while they live and that such of the latter description as have no parents living, or if living are unable or unwilling to provide for them, shall be bound by the court until they shall arrive at the age of twenty-five years, and in cases where no record can be produced whereby their ages can be ascertained the judgment of the court upon its own view of the subject shall be adequate and final."

"The negroes thus bound are (by their masters or mistresses) to be taught to read and write and to be brought up to some useful occupation, agreeably to the laws of the commonwealth of Virginia providing for the support of orphans and other poor children, and I hereby expressly forbid the sale or transportation out of the said commonwealth of any slave I may be possessed of, under any pretense whatsoever."

Gave $4,000 to School.

General Washington bequeathed $4,000 toward the support of a free school established at and annexed to the Alexandria academy.

The value of inland waterways to the United States was foreseen by General Washington. In his will he mentions the fact that in his suggestion the Virginia legislature enacted a law for the purpose of extending the navigation of James river from tidewater to the mountains, and also a law for opening the navigation of the Potomac river from tidewater to Fort Cumberland.

Virginia presented to General Washington 100 shares in the company which was to develop the James river and fifty shares in the company which was to develop the Potomac river as a token of the esteem of the commonwealth. But General Washington, as he declared in his will, refused to accept these shares for his own use, but agreed to take them and use their proceeds for the public benefit. He says:

Stock Was Refused.

"The acceptance of these shares of stock was refused as inconsistent with a principle which I had adopted and had never departed from—namely, not to receive pecuniary compensation for any services I could render my country in its arduous struggle with Great Britain for its rights and because I had evaded similar propositions from other states in the Union."

General Washington then launches into a pet hobby, the establishment of a great national university at the seat of government, the District of Columbia, and declared that he would leave the fifty shares in the Potomac river company to aid in establishing that university. He says:

"That as it has always been a source of serious regret with me to see the youth of these United States sent to foreign countries for the purpose of education, often before their minds were formed or they had imbibed any adequate ideas of the happiness of their own, contracting too frequently not only habits of dissipation and extravagance, but principles unfriendly to republican government and to the true and genuine liberties of mankind, which thereafter are rarely overcome."

"For these reasons it has been my ardent wish to see a plan devised on a liberal scale which would have a tendency to spread systematic ideas through all parts of this rising empire, thereby to do away local attachments and state prejudices as far as the nature of things would or indeed ought to admit from our national councils."

Favored Great University.

"Looking anxiously forward to the accomplishment of so desirable an object as this (in my estimation), my mind has not been able to contemplate any plan more likely to effect the measure than the establishment of a university in a central part of the United States, to which the youth of fortune and talent from all parts thereof might be sent for the completion of their education in all the branches of polite literature, in arts and sciences—in acquiring knowledge in the principles of politics and good government—and (as a matter of infinite importance in my judgment) by associating with each other and forming friendships in juvenile years, be enabled to free themselves in a proper degree from those local prejudices and habitual jealousies which have just been mentioned and which, when carried to excess, are never failing sources of disquietude to the public mind and pregnant of mischievous consequences to this country."

The present George Washington university in Washington, named after the first president, is designed to carry out his wishes in regard to a great central university.

General Washington, as shown by his will, was a wealthy man as wealth went at the time of his death. He gives a partial list of his holdings, which were scheduled to be sold to pay various legacies and which amounted to $530,000 in value. His property was located in many places, including Washington, Charles county and Montgomery county, Md.; Loudoun, Fauquier, Berkeley, Frederick, Hampshire, Gloucester and Nansemond counties, Va.; the great Dismal swamp, the Ohio river valley, New York, Pennsylvania, northwest territory and Kentucky.

The executors named in the will were Mrs. Washington, William Augustine Washington, Bushrod Washington, George Steptoe Washington, Samuel Washington and Lawrence Lewis, all nephews of General Washington, and his ward, George Washington Parke Custis.

CAUGHT TWENTY FOOT SHARK.

Skipper Says It Knocked Crew of Five Men Overboard Before It Died.

The ice laden schooner Maud Palmer of Bangor, Me., loafed into the ancient port of Georgetown, D. C., with the tall and fins of a twenty foot man eating shark nailed to the foremast. Captain Dudley of the Maud volunteered that the shark measured exactly twenty feet one and seven-eighths inches and added that after it had been captured by throwing over the spare anchor with a large piece of pork stuck on each fluke the shark had revived and after a terrific battle had knocked the entire crew of five men overboard.

Luckily the Maud did not have much headway on, and the crew swam to the port chains and climbed up in time to see the shark die.

THIS PROPOSAL
WAS SHOCKING

Railroad Offered Jobs to All of Jim How's Army.

THEIR DIGNITY IS INSULTED

Marching bravely on to the Capital to Pass Resolutions Demanding of the Government a Chance For a Job
For Every Man, Hobo Army Was Put to Rout When an Actual Offer of Work Was Presented.

Washington, Sept. 2.—Sixteen strong, the much advertised "army of the unemployed" marched into Washington yesterday, and last evening at 5 o'clock the annual hobo convention was called to order with easily double that number in attendance. James Eads How, the millionaire tramp, who sent out the call and who has been predicting right along that at least 4,000 of the unwashed would attend as delegates, does not seem at all discouraged. He calls attention to the fact that the convention is scheduled to continue for four days and expresses the belief that many knights of the road have been delayed by adverse weather conditions. Hiking over roads that have just been flooded more than half a foot deep with rain in seven days is even worse than it sounds, he says.

But while the absence of the army of 4,000 has not been satisfactorily accounted for, the fact remains that a representative of the capitalist class put up a job on General How and his army during the second stage of the march from Baltimore. Ninety-two hoboes left Baltimore and marched to Laurel, Md., half way to the national capital, where, soaked to the skins and covered with mud, they spent the night in the town hall. Some few fell by the wayside, but seventy-nine of them started out briskly for Washington in the sunshine of morning. They had not advanced more than a mile when a tanned and energetic looking young man drove up in a buggy, hopped out and asked Gen. How if the contingent with him happened to be a part of the army of the unemployed bound for Washington to pass resolutions demanding the establishment of a national employment bureau so that every man might have a chance to earn his daily bread.

General How proudly admitted that this was correct.

"Then," said the energetic young man, taking out a notebook and a pencil, "you need go no further. I am a representative of the Western Maryland railroad and I want to employ a couple hundred men right away to lay track."

"Thanks," said General How, "I'll speak to the army about it."

But the army had heard, and when he turned around the seventy-nine had become sixteen. Even these looked nervous until Alexandria Ike, who has the gift of tongue, thanked the Western Maryland agent for his offer, expressed profound regret that it could not be accepted, and explained that every one of the sixteen, having been elected a delegate to the hobo convention, considered it his duty to his constituents to attend. The tanned young man climbed back into his bug-y and drove away swearing. General How and the sixteen continued their march to Washington.

A PATHETIC CASE

Railroader Killed Himself When Physical Defect Led to Discharge.

St. Paul, Ky., Sept. 2.—Despondent over the fact that the railway company for which he was working discharged him because he had a wooden leg, Louis M. Bagby, twenty-eight years old, shot and killed himself. Behind the suicide lies the pathetic effort of Bagby to conceal his crippled condition and thereby retain his job on the railroad. For five years he managed to keep hidden the fact that he had a wooden leg and, when it was accidentally discovered and he was discharged, he gave up the struggle as hopeless and ended his life.

Holding Mona Lisa For Ransom.
Paris, Sept. 2.—The Journal prints prominently an advertisement which is thought to have some connection with the theft of "La Jaconde," better known as Mona Lisa, from the Louvre.
The advertisement read: "Jaconde B.
S. understood. We waiting." It is rumored that the thief is negotiating to return the famous painting on payment of $30,000.

Sentenced to Life Imprisonment.
Holland, Mich., Sept. 2.—Walter Hopper, the man who followed his sweetheart, Grace Lyons, onto a Chicago-Holland boat last week and when in midlake tossed her overboard, her body being chopped to pieces in the wheel, has been sentenced to life imprisonment.

Germans Are Optimistic.
Berlin, Sept. 2.—It is not likely that the Moroccan negotiations will be resumed before Monday. The German foreign office is optimistic in regard to the result of the coming interviews.
It intimates that the broad outlines of the French proposals are known and that they are acceptable to Germany.

GRAY HAIR WILL MAKE YOU LOOK OLD

Use Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and Your Gray Hair Will Quickly Vanish.

Gray hair is a mark of age, and nothing that can be said as to its beauty will effect the disadvantages of this mark of age set upon your brow.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy darkens the hair and restores it to its youthful beauty. Our grandmothers and their grandmothers before them used sage and sulphur for darkening their hair. Nothing has ever been found more effective for this purpose than these two time-honored remedies, but Wyeth, a modern chemist, has combined the two with other ingredients which makes a delightful dressing for the hair, and which not only removes every trace of dandruff but promotes the growth of the hair. It also stops the hair from falling out and makes it beautiful.

All druggists are authorized to refund the money if it fails to do exactly as

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

What Will Mysterious New Witness Have to Say?

NEW TURN IN BEATTIE CASE

The Defense Promises to Introduce a Reluctant Witness Who Is Expected to Give an Entirely New Color to Tragic Incident That July Night on the Midlothian Pike—Prisoner's Brother a Damaging Witness.

Chesterfield Courthouse, Va., Sept.
2.—A hint has been given of a new and "very important witness" in the trial of Henry Clay Beattie, charged with wife murder. A sensation is promised if this witness takes the stand and gives evidence to the full extent of his knowledge.

It has become known that Beattie's lawyers have found a man who was automobile on the Midlothian turnpike on the night of the murder in the company of a woman. This man is said to have been seen cranking his machine at a spot not far from the pool of blood that afterward marked the location of the slaying of Mrs.
Beattie. Several young men who happened to be on a lark on the night of July 18 and who returned along the turnpike just about the hour when the homicide took place, have testified for the prosecution that in the vicinity afterward established as that where the murder occurred, they saw a machine closely resembling Henry Beattie's; that a woman was standing on the left-hand running board when they passed and that a man was tinkering with the engine.

The prosecution has shown by inference that the young Richmond joy riders saw Henry Beattie standing by the hood of his machine while his wife was on the running board. Through the newly discovered witness the defense will try to prove that it was not Beattie and his wife that the other party saw, but this new witness and the woman who was his companion.

But it also became known in a roundabout way that should this witness be forced through subpoena to take the stand for the defense, some high explosives for Beattie's case might be touched off by the common wealth cross-examination. In the first place the witness has reasons for not wanting to be brought into the case;
only the most assiduous efforts by Beattie's lawyers have uncovered his name and knowledge of the facts he is said to possess. A far more serious reason why this unknown should have to be handled with gloves by the defense is said to be that should he be asked by the commonwealth's attorney he would testify that aside from being mistaken for Beattie on the night of the murder, he had passed Beattie in his automobile, had recognized Beattie and that he had seen a woman and another man in the car besides Beattie himself.

No hint of the other man in the machine with Beattie and his wife on the night that Mrs. Beattie was murdered has been whispered since investigations began the hour after the murder.
Beattie has declared that he rode alone with his wife and that she was shot by a pedestrian from the roadside.

Douglas Beattie, brother of the prisoner, stated under cross-examination that had he known that the charge of murder was to be made against his brother Henry, following the coroner's inquest, he would have destroyed all the evidence possible to be used against Henry while it still remained in his power to do so. Not only did Douglas Beattie blurt out this admission, but under the skillful cross-fire of examination by Louis Wendenburg he made other equally prejudicial statements which hurt his brother's cause. And it was evident that Douglas Beattie was doing his best to be a favorable witness. He and minor witnesses testified to the character of the accused and his seeming happy relations with his wife before her death.
Close friends of Mrs. Beattie took the stand to testify that they had never seen any friction in the married life of the prisoner and his wife.

Greensburg Awaits Coming of Local Crowd to Jubilee and Home-Coming.

EXPECTING BIG DELEGATION

Merchants There Will Make Visit of Local People One of Pleasure and Profit.

No vote was taken on the proposition to come to Greensburg Thursday of jubilee week by the Rushville business men Thursday night but announcement was made Friday afternoon that a big delegation would come, says the Greensburg Democrat.

The business men decided to make a canvass to ascertain how many tickets would be required. This will be done before next Thursday night when the Retail Merchants Association holds its regular meeting. At that meeting everything will be arranged for the trip.

A special from Rushville says that the proposition was discussed at the meeting Thursday night and that it was the sense of the association that a special should be ordered. Because the railroad company had not responded to an inquiry about the rates, the association was not in a position to take definite action.

The special says that an effort will be made to sell at least 400 tickets for the special. The Rushville band has been engaged to accompany the delegation.

The purpose of the proposed visit to this city is to advertise a horse show to be held in Rushville this fall. The business men assume that very large crowds will be gathered here on Thursday of jubilee week and they wish to get the horse show dates before them.

They will also come as boosters for Rushville. With between 400 and 500 men in the delegation they feel assured that their presence will attract attention. Headed by a band, they will parade the streets and tout the glories of the coming horse show and sing the praises of their city.

Greenburg will give them a proper welcome when they come and everything will be done to make their visit one of pleasure and profit.

TO BE LABOR DAY IN COURT HOUSE

September Term of Circuit Court Will Open and Commissioners Will Convene Monday.

MUCH BUSINESS SCHEDULED

County Council Will Meet Tuesday to Make Appropriations For County Expenses Next Year.

Labor day will be all that the word labor means and nothing that the day signifies at the court house Monday. On that day the September term of the Rush circuit court will open with a heavy docket and the county commissioners will convene for their regular monthly business. On Tuesday the county council will convene in regular annual session.

The county council's session, as usual, will be very important and as it is at this time that the money to pay the expenses of the county for the coming year will be appropriated. All of the county officials and the county commissioners have prepared their budgets which are the estimates of what it will cost to run Rush county during the year 1918. Of course, there may be some items which the county council may not think necessary and there may be some concerning which there will be varied opinions. Some appropriations have been asked for which may cause a vote to be taken by the council.

The commissioners will have an extra heavy list of routine business to transact. Aside from that a new question will be brought to issue for them to decide. Basil Seward has advertised that he will appear before the board and ask for a liquor license. As the commissioners interpreted the saloon regulation act passed by the last legislature and made a ruling that only the minimum number of saloons should be opened here, it was thought that Rushville had her full coterie of saloons already. But attorneys for Seward say that they have a new interpretation of the law which will allow the opening of another saloon. They will present their opinion to the commissioners.

Court opens Monday after four months' vacation. The business of the September term will be heavy, due to the fact that no court has been held here for some time and a number of important civil as well as criminal cases will come up for trial. One murder case is on the docket, that which was sent here from Connersville on a change of venue. The criminal suits have not yet been placed on the court calendar.

The petit and grand juries have been drawn and are as follows:

Grand Jurors—Jacob R. Brown, Richland; Hal W. Green, Jackson; Mauzy Bebout, Noble; Ora Smith, Union; A. B. Gates, Walker; Hiram Henley, Ripley.

Petit Jurors—Worth Kelly, Anderson; Jesse Addison, Ripley; Jesse T. Miller, Anderson; Frank J. Jones, Jackson; Robert Campbell, Orange; Arthur J. Looney, Union; William Knecht, Center; Morris Kirk, Rushville; Lefe G. Hall, Washington; Lewis Bagley, Posey.

WILL NOT MOVE.

F. Wilson Kaler, editor-preacher, late of the Four County Herald of Andersonville, who for some time has been contemplating a change of residence to Centerville, so that he might be nearer his church, suddenly decided that the opportunities of his home city were much better than in a strange place and has announced his intention of remaining in Andersonville, although he will still fulfill his appointments at Centerville.

STUDENTS TO REUNITE.

Indianapolis Star: At the annual reunion of former pupils and employees of the Indiana Soldiers and Sailors' Orphans' Home, Knights-town, Ind., which will be held tomorrow afternoon in the south grove at Riverside Park, an organization to have charge of future reunions and social events will be completed. There are several hundred former students and employees of the school living in Indianapolis and vicinity who have been invited to the reunion. An interesting and entertaining program has been prepared.

WOOL HATS THE RAGE.

Despite the proclamation of Mayor Shank of Indianapolis that straw hats may be worn another month, the New Castle Courier says: "Put away your old straw bonnet with the faded ribbon on it, for Dame Fashion has decreed that way. Friday was the closing of the straw hat season and one must wear a wool hat if he intends to pay any attention to the custom long established. With the return of the wool hat comes the walking stick. So now it's up to you."

ory of Gen. Hackleman. Mr. Cowing has written many long and concise newspaper articles to various publications over the State urging the appropriation for the monument but so far he has been unsuccessful. It is his life's ambition to be instrumental in obtaining an appropriation from the legislature for such a work and he will work for it untiringly until his hands are stilled and his mind is stopped by death.

Mr. Cowing was born and reared in the vicinity of Clarksburg and came to this city in 1840. He was associated with Gen. Hackleman on the Whig and the Republican for a number of years. The Whig was established in 1843 by the Hackleman family and was the first paper ever printed in Rushville.

Once a newspaper writer always one, so it has been with Mr. Cowing. He still engages in his favorite work and often contributes newspaper articles to the press of Muncie and other State publications. In the declining years of his life Mr. Cowing has taken an active interest in flowers and other plants and has made a careful study of them. He occasionally contributes papers on these subjects. Only recently an article on the cantaloupe, written by him, appeared in the Muncie Press.
